Frank E. Hart, formerly a resident at this city, who for the past three years has held a government position assisting in educational training in Porto Rico, leaves Willimantic today (Wednesday) for Boston to confer with officials of the Boston University on Cuban work. Saturday, August 21, he will sail from New York for Havana. Mr. Hart is spending a short vacation in this city the guest of an old friend.

Due to his fine work for the government, Mr. Hart was offered a chance of secretarial training in the large school of commerce which is to be opened by Boston University in Havana about September 1. The position brings with it a fine salary. Mr. Hart's studies will be to instruct Cuban and Porto Rican graduates of schools in commercial methods. Mr. Hart is a native of Connecticut and is a graduate of the University of Connecticut.

Mr. Hart was graduated from Willimantic State Normal School in the class of 1917, taking the commercial course. He saw the possibilities of business success in South American countries and learned to speak Spanish when offered an appointment as teacher of English and methods in the commercial department of the Mayaguez, Porto Rico, high school, he accepted and before accepting the present offer was in full charge of that department.

Two of Mr. Hart's sisters, both graduates of Willimantic Normal school, have appointments at the Mayaguez High school. Miss Irene Hart, who was in charge of training teachers for rural school work at Mayaguez, is also returning to that country, taking a position with the United States government in rehabilitation work.

What's done as much as anything else to fill up the movie houses

LOOK at the crowds that step out of their cars in front of the movies every summer evening.

The movie managers would be renting half of their theatres for store space, if it weren't for the automobile.

It is typical of Americans that they took to the automobile as a matter of course—just as they have to the movies and to every other great invention of the last half century.

And the same thing has happened every time. Taking things as they come is a fine way to foster waste and extravagance.

As regards tires, the comeback is about due. People are pretty near through paying for something that isn't there when they look for it.

What a man pays for in a tire is quality—not a limited number of miles or the privilege of getting a rebate in case the miles don't come up to the limit.

U. S. Tires are guaranteed as to quality—with no limitation of mileage.

And that holds just as good for the small car tire as for the biggest U. S. Tire we've got. There's only one standard of quality with U. S.—and the size of the car has nothing whatever to do with it.

We represent U. S. Tires in this town. You'll find it worth while to talk to us before you buy any more tires.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BREED THEATRE.
William Russell is coming to the Breed theatre today and Thursday in a rollicking musical. Leave it to Me, that is said to possess exceptional entertainment value. The Fox star is a screen favorite with all lovers of many characters. This photograph, according to those who have seen it, is jammed with tons of humor that makes it a well-balanced picture. It is from the pen of Arthur Jackson and has been staged under direction of Edmund J. Fox, who has many "hot" triumphs to his credit. The story is set in a town environment and brings into collision extremes of the social scale—members of local "society" and the leaders of the underworld. The company that supports William Russell includes Eileen Percy, Marcelle Daley, Hal Cook, Lucille Cavanaugh, Harvey Clark, William Bomer and Milla Davenport.

Anna Lehr and Walter Miller will also be seen in The Open Door, a picture of intense mystery and deep devotion and the Ford Educational is weekly will complete the bill for today and Thursday.

TEA FOR THREE.

Tea For Three, the last comedy by Rol Cooper Megrue, which will be presented at the Davis theatre, this evening, ran for one entire year at Maxine Elliott's theatre, New York. It was the most successful comedy of the year. It is most successful by its sponsors as being "an angle on the triangle." The emphasis at the same time "placed on the fact that it is not an angle of the triangle and attention is called to the difference of the situations on the same triangle. Myriads of plays have been written, each striving to treat the triangle some different way from all the others. Occasionally one succeeds, but however, fail. But whether they succeed or fail, the result in one respect is always the same. They all, in the telling of their story must involve their characters and have their situations on the same triangle. In Tea For Three Mr. Megrue, has succeeded in standing apart as it were, from a triangular entanglement. Rather, he has written as one on the outside who views the triangle as a whole in a decidedly humorous fashion. Whatever else may be said for Tea For Three at least it will have to be admitted that it is a refreshingly human, and utterly free from suggestive innuendo which is sometimes found in plays, dealing with phases of this so-called triangle.

DAVIS THEATRE.

Augustus Thomas' Rio Grande, produced by Edwin Carew and released through Patha, will be the attraction at this theatre on Wednesday and Thursday. It is a picture strong in heart interest and shows the love of a Mexican girl for a young Texas ranger. Rosemary Tully, who is so well known to screen followers for the various roles she has played in the past few years, plays a Mexican girl with a truer than makes one believe she is a descendant of that race. While on guard at the Rio Grande, Danny O'Neil captures a young girl dressed in men's clothes. The girl had been pursued by the Mexican "Rancho" on the other side of the river but by a clever ruse she had evaded them and gained the opposite shore. She is greatly surprised when "Danny" decides to let her go. For this she invites him to a ball. Being romantic Danny accepts the invitation, goes to the affair but encounters such opposition that he barely escapes with his life. Maria's love now turns to hate, for she hears that her father has been wounded and taken prisoner by the Americans. She calls her men together and attacks the little town of Frontera. After terrific fighting on both sides her men are defeated and Maria meets for the first time her long lost American mother. Danny pleads with her to marry him but the wrong she had committed against the Americans weighed heavily on her but Danny's persistence finally overcomes all obstacles and he finally wins her.

The second feature in The Blood Barrier, Cyrus Townsend Lord's thrilling drama featuring Sylvia Brainerd and Robert Gordon, Comedyart, a new and distinct novelty film, completes the show.

ORPHEUM THEATRE, DANIELSON.
Selwyn and Company, one of the most active firms of producing managers in the theatrical world, at present will present Rol Cooper Megrue's new comedy, Tea For Three at the Orpheum theatre, Danvers, Friday, Aug. 13.

Tea For Three has been running at Maxine Elliott's theatre, New York, since early in the season, and promises to remain there the rest of the year.

The new comedy is a decided novelty. Moreover it is the first play in more than a year to be finished by Mr. Megrue.

Those who came from out of town to attend the funeral of Miss Eunice E. Hatch Thursday were Miss Grace Hatch of Hartford, Mass., and Mrs. Hattie Threlk and two daughters, Miss Grace Gilmore and Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hatch of Hartford.

Mrs. Arthur Oddy is spending three weeks at Deerfield, Mass.

The Woman's Christian Temperance union of Tolland county will hold a field day and picnic at Hart's pavilion, Crystal lake, Friday, Aug. 20, with a basket picnic at noon. At 2 o'clock there will be a program of music, readings, a patriotic drill and address by Mary B. Wilson, president of the Connecticut W. C. T. U., who has just returned from the international convention and war-torn Europe. The children as well as adults have been invited to attend.

Plainville.—On the date of the inauguration of the new trolley rates Plainville saw the heaviest traffic in its history.

The comedy is announced as an angle on the triangle, and therein is to be noted the fact that it is not an angle of the triangle. That of two should prove a fairly welcome bit of news to jaded theatregoers who have been more or less lulled in recent years with the latter style of theatricalism.

Selwyn and Company have prepared a most effective setting for the play and have assembled a cast of rare excellence.

BLISSVILLE

The deep sea fishermen, Messrs. W. Land, Beetham, Gundermah and Hon. James Graham, made one of their weekly trips Monday evening, returning with the usual luck.

Veranda parties are very popular, as is also bathing in the pond.

With the opening of Newent state road traffic and dust clouds have increased on the Lisbon road, so once again residents are discussing the prospects of making it a state highway.

Indications point to a big vote next fall, the number of lists to be made being a record-breaker, as the evidence of the activities of the town committee.

New Britain.—R. I. Brynston, for ten years cashier at the New Britain office of the Connecticut Light and Power company, has resigned. Miss Helen Cunningham has been promoted to succeed him.
